—Hunt Wood, Louis Gaines, Bob Caldwell and Bob Hocker were arrested at Junction City Tuesday night and taken to Nicholasville charged with being implicated in the killing of Abe Singleton, at that place, last Sunday. Henry Carter was arrested at the time of the killing. All colored and all belong to Junction City, except the deceased, who generally stayed at Somerset.

—Miss Mary Robertson is visiting friends in Cartersville, Ill. Mr. Charles Robertson, of Cartersville, who has been visiting friends in this vicinity, returned home Wednesday. Mr. Felix G. Fox, of Kansas City, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Eliza Fox, and other relatives in Danville. Mrs. Adelia Russell, of Danville, and Mr. W. B. Jarvis, of Garrard, obtained license to marry Wednesday evening.

—John, the eight-year-old son of Mr. Alex Anderson, got on a bicycle, Tuesday, in company with T. Grinstead, an older boy. John's foot became entangled in some way with the bicycle machinery with the result that one of his toes was partly ground off, leaving the last joint exposed. Dr. Dunlap, after administering chloroform, cut off the protruding bone and bound up the wound. It was a very painful affair, not only for the little sufferer, but to his parents and all concerned.

—A citizen of Danville, who attended the Knights Templar convocation at Denver, on his return stopped in St. Louis, and while there saw George Smith, sent when a mere boy to Frankfort for life for killing an old man named Brown, in Mercer county. He says Smith is happily married, has an interesting young family, is foreman in a large shoe factory, is highly thought of by his employers and much respected by his neighbors and all who know him. Smith was released several years ago and soon afterwards went to St. Louis, where he has prospered in the manner above related.

—Tuesday morning Tinsley Mershon and A. H. Dawson, both said to be from Lincoln county, swore out 22 prosecutions against Mrs. B. H. Bellow for selling whisky, 12 against J. C. Goings for selling whisky and beer, 8 against Kate Lee for selling beer and one against Hettie Burdett for selling whisky. Wednesday when the cases were called for trial an agreement between Town Attorney Goodloe and E. J. Breckinridge, who represented the defendants, was reached, by which the Bellow cases were dismissed upon the payment by the defendant of $250 and costs. Kate Lee got off with $150 and costs and Hettie Burdett with $140 costs only. The cases against Goings were passed until Monday at 9 o'clock.

—The strike of switchmen at Buffalo, which was inaugurated 12 days ago, was a failure and was declared off Wednesday night by Master Workman Sweeney. The men will endeavor to regain their positions. They attribute their defeat to the failure to receive support from fraternal orders.

—At Irvine 34 lots sold at an average of $300. An effort is being made to boom the place.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Mr. Jim Lowman, who was thought to be fatally cut by Louis Kreiger, is still improving and will likely recover. Kreiger has never been captured, but is believed to be somewhere in Indiana.

—Harry Weber has gone to Louisville where he will enter a medical college in September. Hon. G. W. McClure, Col. F. L. Thompson, A. Pennington and others are taking in the London fair this week.

—K. E. Thompson was here the first of the week to see his sick wife, who continues about the same. McKenzie & Baker are having their store-house repaired. C. Woodall has moved to Orleans, Indiana. Mrs. C. W. Brown is spending a week with Miss Ann Stewart in the country. Mrs. Wick Howard has brought suit for divorce.

—A short paragraph in your Tuesday's issue told of the suicide of Miss Melissa Burnett, the beautiful 18-year old daughter of preacher H. D. Burnett. The particulars are as follows: Robert Cook is the young man that figures so conspicuously in this most horrible scene. He had been keeping company with Miss Burnett for some three years and under the veil of pretense he had won her affection and by his glib and oily tongue had convinced her that they would some day be married. The first time for the wedding to occur was set some time last winter. The hour arrived but her Robert did not appear. The time was again set after many more visits to the young girl, but even then he did not come as promised. The hour was again agreed upon for Thursday of last week. When this was definitely settled she went to Berea, purchased the necessary apparel and returned, saying that that would either be her wedding costume or her shroud, which afterward proved too true, for Robert Cook did not come to claim her as his own, but wrote a short missive that contained the sad news of his departure. She was in the yard when the messenger arrived and flung her the note. She immediately went to her apartment, bathed, put on her intended wedding dress, fixed her hair with great care, then going to her trunk hoisted the lid, picked up a small vial of poison, took a swallow therefrom and threw it back into the tray and made for the bed, ready, willing and anxious to die. This occurred about eight o'clock in the morning. Her groans and struggles aroused the household. All kinds of aid were called in, but in vain, she suffered indescribable agony for two hours, then came the words, "she has no pulse." A sad and most touching death it was. A beautiful blonde, completely robed in gentleness and every emotion controlled by loving kindness, yet driven to despondency and finally to the act of taking her own life by the harsh and bitter words together with the prospect of having to face a cold world and leaving her home where she thought she would be no longer welcome, and knowing she had been betrayed by the deception of this young man, on whom she had lavished her affections and in whom she had placed implicit confidence, and who had refused the third time to save her from such an awful fate. Already deserted by her lover and about to be cast from home into the dark and cruel world, she thought it better to lay her many burdens down in the early morning of her existence by administering the poison and prevent further humiliation.

—In Ohio county, Dick Morgan, aged 14, cut Robert Mosely, aged 14, in the thigh and the boy bled to death before assistance reached him. It is not known whether the boys were playing or fighting.

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—The bridge question is being agitated again.

—The rain last week revived vegetation greatly.

—Prof. Peterman, of Frankfort, will conduct the Teachers' Institute of this county when it convenes at Liberty, on Sept. 5th.

—It is sent out from Danville that Bob Williams, down there, has a crop of corn that will yield him 1,500 barrels, which if true, is pretty good for a dry year.

—George Darham, who had been on a week's visit to Taylor county, his old home, returned last week, accompanied by his uncle, Mr. W. W. Durham, and little son, and Mr. A. C. Ramsey, of Saloma.

—Wm. McWhorter is depot agent at Yosemite while Jeff Godley is at Stanford under tutelage of Dr. Carpenter. William McKinney, of Mt. Salem, was in this section last week buying sucking calves for shipment to Cincinnati.

—The friends of Col. R. J. Breckinridge down here had hoped that he would receive the nomination for circuit judge last Saturday, but it seems they have been woefully disappointed. Col. B. is a decided favorite with the boys here, owing to the interest he has heretofore manifested in their political welfare. In 1888 he made speeches throughout this county and was the means of urging many to the polls who otherwise would have remained at home, besides making a number of speeches against the new constitution. This, together with his untiring efforts to put us into a democratic judicial district, has placed him very near the heart of every democrat in the county. When Bob wants anything of Casey he has only to ask for it. As to Judge Sanley, the successful candidate, no one here pretends to urge a single objection against him, but all agree that he will carry the district over any republican who dares to oppose him and will make an able and upright judge.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—William Thomas, aged 18, and Miss Martha Noakes, 17, both of the Preachersville vicinity, were married at the bride's father's, Wednesday.

—J. L. Homaden, aged 25, committed suicide at Lexington because his sweetheart refused him, forgetting there are as good fish in the sea as those that take the hook.

—Peter Blair, of Ohio, celebrated his 21st birthday by marrying Mrs. Jacob Campbell, of Valparaiso, Ind., a widow of 40 and nine children. Peter is poor and the widow has money.

—Carl Axelson, of New York City, committed suicide because his wife bore him a girl instead of a boy. We know a man whose wife has gone the other extreme until he is almost ready to commit lele de se.

—Since Squire Beazley, who has officiated at some 8,000 runaway marriages at the American Grana Green, Aberdeen, O., has become an invalid, two other squires have entered the field and the competition is very great. Each has runners out for the runaways, who are pulled and jostled about without mercy.

A Good Suggestion.

Mr. J. B. Paxton, county chairman, has received the following letter from John D. Carroll, chairman State Central Committee:

"I am apprehensive that the alterations in precinct lines, the radical change made in the manner of voting, and the difficulty that many citizens will encounter in preparing their ballots and otherwise complying with the new election law, will have a tendency to prevent many persons from voting at the coming election. In view of these facts, I take the liberty of suggesting that at an early day you call a meeting at the courthouse of all of your citizens who feel an interest in the matter, and arrange some plan by which the democratic voters of your county will be made acquainted with the precinct lines and instructed concerning the new election law.

Some action of this kind is necessary in the interest of the party, and unless it is attended to there will be a large falling off in our vote.

Yours truly, JOHN D. CARROLL."

The Danville Advocate says Judge Breckinridge takes his defeat philosophically. He was one of the first to congratulate his successful opponent and to pledge him his support. This is the proper spirit. An example, too, that should lead those who had not near so much at stake, to forget as Judge Breckinridge has, the differences that may have existed before, but should be settled by the election. It is not an individual now that he will support, but the party. His prestige depends upon harmony. The first step towards that end has been taken by Judge Breckinridge. Let his friends follow.

—Attorney General Hendrick says he saw $150,000 subscribed to the democratic campaign fund in 15 minutes while in New York. He says the democratic members of the Manhattan Club have agreed to subscribe $1,500,000, and they will do it.

—The latest snake story is from Dickson, N. J. Mrs. J. E. Drew killed a monster rattler and tying a cord about it, dragged it home. Two days later the mate crawled over the trail and appeared in the parlor, where Mrs. Drew dispatched it with a revolver.

—Among the visiting attorneys this week were Col. T. P. Hill, Judge Sauley, J. S. Owsley, Jr., P. M. McRoberts and Col. Welch, of Stanford, Judge Jacobs and Charles Rodes, of Danville.

—Circuit court will adjourn to-day. The grand jury adjourned Wednesday afternoon, after finding 31 indictments, mostly for misdemeanors. We understand that they made it pretty hot for the sinners, but failed to indict any of them.

—Neither the Commonwealth nor the defendant being ready, the trial of Armp Rowland for killing Frank Stewart was continued until the next term of the court. Hampton Sturges got a judgment of $201.25 against the L. & N. railroad because the company refused to take up a ticket bought by him and made him pay fare twice. A negro, Pete Jackson, was sent to the penitentiary for a year for burning a store-house at Bryantsville.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—The democratic county committee met Saturday and selected Mr. Geo. Frye as the party's standard bearer for sheriff and John O. Staton for jailer at the coming November election. I believe it is understood that Mr. Thomas Baldock will be deputy sheriff.

—Wesley Barton was tried Tuesday for being found with a concealed weapon on his person, at Salem church, on Sunday, July 31st, and fined $25 and 10 days imprisonment. Other cases connected with disturbances at Salem church on the same day have been continued on account of absence of material witnesses, until Friday, 26th.

—A good crowd attended county court Monday. Mr. J. C. Muncey, of Edmonston, republican candidate for the nomination for commonwealth's attorney in the 20th district, addressed the people and won good opinions from both parties by his able manner in explaining the duties of that office and his country in dealing with those of a different political faith.

—In his annual report President Ingalls, of the C. & O., says that the problem in the future will be how to make a fair return to investors while rates are going down and wages increasing. He will recommend that the officers should meet and discuss with organized bodies of labor on the road as to the labor question, and recommend to the stockholders to consider the plan of establishing a community of interests with the employees.

—John H. Taylor, an alleged horse-thief from Franklin, Ky., died at Nashville and was shot and killed by Sheriff Hill.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure

A Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening strength. Latest United States Government Food Report.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 Wall Street, New York.

W. P. WALTON.

The Courier-Journal and other papers have been worked with a half-column dispatch from Richmond about "a copy of the Vicksburg Herald printed July 2, 1863," on wall paper, which the correspondent had just run upon. This is a worse fake than the old Ulster County Gazette, which has furnished an item for so many papers. Millions of facsimile copies of the Gazette, which contained an account of the death of Washington, were printed for sale at the Philadelphia Centennial and for years theatrical managers with Southern plays have reproduced this same issue of the Vicksburg paper as an advertisement for their shows. There is a package in this office now a foot thick, which the Courier-Journal and other gullible papers can have by paying for this information and sending money to prepay express.

The attorney general, who has been off on a summer outing, arrived in time to give his official opinion to Auditor Norman that he must issue warrants to those who demand them for service to the State, even if there is no money in the treasury to pay them. As to the questioned validity of the World's Fair bill, Gen. Hendrick says this is a matter for the courts to determine and that no warrants should be drawn under the act until its constitutionality was declared. Thus the appropriation of $100,000 made some months ago for Kentucky's exhibit at the great Exposition will be held up until it will probably be too late to be of service. Was there ever such a miserable lot of tinkers as compose the Gen. Ass.?

The speaker of the South Carolina House will know better how to go at it hereafter. He accosted a reporter and roughly told him that his report of his speech was false. "If you mean to call me a liar, take that," said the newspaper man, at the same time landing a right hand in his mouth, knocking him down. A son of the speaker attempted to take it up, but he too was treated to the same medicine. There is always a right and wrong way to go about securing a correction. No gentleman will willingly do a man an injustice and the newspaper man, who is generally a gentleman, stands ready always to correct any statement when convinced of its error.

Owing to the continued serious illness of Maj. D. E. Caldwell, he was forced to give up the control of the Lexington Transcript and in consequence it had considerably depreciated as a news dispenser. On this account, and there being no prospect of an early recovery, he has sold the paper to Senator J. H. Mulligan and Ex-City Attorney E. P. Farrell, who will edit it, and who promise to make it the best paper in the State, outside of Louisville.

Col. E. Polk Johnson, public printer, binder, mower, traction engine, &c., was one of the sufferers by the Coal Creek war. The train which was to bear him far from the maddening crowd to some point in North Carolina, was held up and he was a week in getting out of the woods. His experience with miners and Winchester is given in a humorous way in Tuesday's Courier-Journal, and what was Polk's loss is the readers' gain.

The bitter three-cornered fight among the republicans in the 11th district seems to have given the democrats heart and now nearly every other man of more or less prominence is out for the democratic nomination for Congress. It will be an awfully cold day, however, when a democrat is elected in a district that is 10,000 republican, with a majority of the voters unable to give a reason for voting the republican ticket.

Secretary Foster says the tariff is the only issue in this campaign and that the force bill has no part in it. Of course he and his party would be glad to relegate the infamous measure to the rear, but it will persist in doing like Banquo's ghost. The force bill will force itself to the front.

The Coal Creek war is over, some 20 or more miners are dead, others are fleeing the outraged law, many are thrown out of work and, the convicts have been ordered to be returned to the mines. The more sensible of the miners will not be asking themselves if that kind of business pays.

The editor of the Louisville Times is a long-legged old anarchist, who ought to be confined in the institution near his home until it develops whether he is crazy or has natural born disrespect for law and a supreme power.

The general assembly met in called session yesterday and it is hoped the members will go to work for the public good and not to get even with Governor Brown. The people do not care to pay $100 for any such business.

Central Europe is suffering a most intense hot wave, the mercury in many places going up to 110. Many soldiers in Berlin and Vienna dropped dead while on duty.

Teachers' Institute.

Tuesday morning's session of the Institute was opened with a song by an improvised choir, led by Miss Georgia Lewis, who performed on the organ kindly furnished for the occasion by Mr. S. R. Cook, agent for John Church & Co., after which Prof. W. C. Grinstead led in prayer. The answers to deferred queries brought forth considerable discussion, which was generally joined in.

C. H. Holmes told his method of teaching the fundamental rules, displaying considerable study of the subject. L. N. Taylor, J. M. Brough, T. S. Benson and Supt. W. F. McClary all threw additional light on the subject. Parts of Speech was introduced by W. J. Edmiston, who showed his methods of diagramming. In the discussion that ensued Miss Cettie Thurmond, L. N. Taylor and Prof. Grinstead took part.

During the recess, taken here, Mr. A. J. Earp, the photographer, invited the teachers to the steps of the Court-House, where he grouped them and caught a creditable picture of the good-looking crowd.

Geography was introduced by W. S. Burch and the subject was further elucidated by Misses Mary Kay and Liza Smith, Prof. Grinstead, W. J. Edmiston and J. E. Robinson.

Prof. Brough, who is somewhat of a humorist, read a well prepared essay on "Winds," which was well received. Adjourned till 2 p. m.

The afternoon session was inaugurated with a rousing song. Prof. Brough then took the stand and gave the Institute a rare treat by exhibiting his methods of teaching penmanship. All were pleased and many will adopt them. J. A. Chappell on the subject of history gave his way of teaching it, with which Miss Helen Thurmond took issue in several respects. The conductor, Miss Cettie Thurmond, Garland Singleton, W. H. Michum, H. S. Young, Taylor and others ventilated their views on the question more or less lucidly.

Rev. J. M. Cook was sick and his subject, Compound Numbers, was taken by Prof. Brough, who spoke as fluently as if he had not been suddenly called upon. C. H. Holmes and the conductor also talked briefly on the subject.

At this point Mr. J. H. Miller, the well-known "Happy Jack," on invitation, read a "piece" on "Kentucky, Her Scholars and Great Men," which was in his usually funny vein and greatly enjoyed, if the laughter and applause which it produced were indications of the feelings of those who heard it. A resolution of thanks was unanimously voted the good natured old wag.

Porter Lewis spoke on diagramming and for so young a pedagogue showed much knowledge of the subject.

The spelling contest resulted in a victory for Miss Georgia Lewis, who missed the fewest number of the 20 words given out by the conductor. Adjourned.

The following teachers, who were not present Monday, answered to roll-call Tuesday morning:

Misses Emma Pipes, Kate Hays, Belle Sigler, Bertie Carpenter, Mary Brough and Messrs. W. T. S. Grear and L. N. Taylor.

Misses Sarah Phillips and Sallie West and Mr. J. E. Robinson are teachers from other counties who are attending the Institute.

Wednesday morning after a song by the choir and a prayer by Prof. W. H. Michum and roll call, on motion of Prof. Taylor, the superintendent was requested to appoint a critic, which he did, naming Prof. Taylor.

Common fractions were discussed by Prof. Lewis, who thought it the best plan to work as few examples for your pupils as possible. Miss Mary Kay said she never taught the common rule for division of fractions. Prof. Grinstead also spoke on the subject.

Prof. Brough, who is always ready, was again pressed into service in the absence of Prof. Robinson and discussed decimals, which he thinks easier than common fractions. The conductor showed how to simplify and shorten the methods and Prof. Robinson coming in at this time, and thinking that the subject had been exhausted declined to deliver his prepared remarks.

Prof. Grinstead made a very entertaining talk on the Infinitive Mood, the principal parts of which were jotted down in most of the teachers' note books.

Prof. Taylor opened the subject of percentage and the question was further discussed by Messrs. Brough, Grinstead, A. V. Sizemore and Miss Cettie Thurmond. The query box was opened and after the numerous questions had been considered, the body adjourned for dinner.

In the afternoon the subject of school dialogues, &c., was called, but the young ladies, who were to open, declined to speak and Messrs. Brough, Holmes, Mitchum, Taylor and Miss Cettie Thurmond threw the light of their knowledge on the subject, which was further elucidated by Prof. Grinstead.

Prof. J. M. Ruple, of Danyill, was here introduced and delivered a scholarly address on educational matters, which was highly complimented. At the close Supt. McClary spoke a few words of praise and Prof. Grinstead offered a resolution which was adopted by a rising vote, thanking Prof. Ruple for his excellent address. After the contents of the query box were considered the spelling contest came and Prof. Holmes missing the fewest number of words was declared the winner. Adjourned.

The exercises Thursday morning were opened with song, prayer and roll-call, after which Miss Cettie Thurmond produced a grammatical tree, which she left on the wall for the examination of teachers.

A committee on resolutions was appointed as follows: C. H. Holmes, chairman, and Misses Mary Kay and Liza Smith.

Miss Cettie Thurmond introduced the subject of school discipline in her usually entertaining manner. Quite a spirited discussion arose, which was participated in by Messrs. Mitchum, C. M. Young, J. M. Cook, Holmes, Chappell, Brough, Burch, Taylor and Miss Kay. Rev. Sizemore also gave the Institute the benefit of his valuable experience, and so did the conductor.

Prof. Grinstead presented the cube root in a new and simpler form, which may prove a boon to the teachers. The query-box was opened and after examination the Institute adjourned for dinner.

After a song in the afternoon Supt. McClary presented J. A. Chappell a fine gold ring for keeping the best record. The prize was offered last year.

Parsing difficult sentences was next introduced and a number were put and parsed satisfactorily.

J. H. King begged to be relieved of his subject, mensuration, and Prof. Grinstead explained it himself.

Prof. Brough was assigned to contractions in arithmetic and lucidly discussed them.

Prof. Holmes expatiated on proportion and was followed by Messrs. Taylor and McClary.

After recess the essay contest for the pair of shoes was won by Miss Bertie

C. M. Young won in the spelling contest and the Institute adjourned till this morning.

NOTES.

Miss Bush Grinstead, the conductor's pretty daughter, was the guest of the Institute Tuesday and yesterday.

The Institute accepted the invitation of the Interior Journal to visit the office and see this issue printed, and their presence was much enjoyed.

Our thanks are due Prof. W. S. Burch and his accomplished assistant, Miss Georgia Lewis, for a peep at their minutes, from which to condense the above report.

Prof. W. C. Grinstead, who is a very superior conductor, has received a dispatch to come to Somerset next week and hold the Institute there, which he will do.

The Interior Journal will give a large map of the United States and a year's subscription to the Interior Journal as two prizes this morning in a contest to be arranged later.

The Institute is the best of the best.

The teachers all learned to spell cat.

Our teachers are spellers (?) from away back—"Blueback."

Mr. J. King is the only (King) one on record who wasn't able to speak.

One of the most prominent features of the Institute is Mr. Brough's head. For proof see picture of Institute.

Miss Cettie Thurmond was so sure of winning the prize in the contest that she has been borrowing shoes all summer.

Wanted.—To find the number of square inches in Mr. Michum's feet and the height of Prof. Brough's ambition.

The chairman and secretaries had difficulty in seeing the audience as Mr. Michum obstructed the view by keeping his feet on the railing.

The teachers, with the exception of a few, were a little backward in coming forward, as they said "stars could not shine in the presence of the sun."

There has rarely been such a galaxy as the one that collected around the courthouse door to have their photographs taken. Miss Cettie Thurmond thinks Mr. Earp, our photographer, deserves the medal at the World's Fair, as some of the teachers said he made her pretty.

Following is the programme for this A. M.:

Roll call and opening exercises.

1st. Physiology and Hygiene—M. J. Brough.

2d. Civics—Prof. J. H. Chappell.

3d. Miscellaneous talks. Condition of Schools and their prospects—W. F. McClary.

Query Box. Spelling contest.

I am compelled now to call on all indebted to me for a settlement. Please call at basement of Severance & Son's and pay me. J. B. Foster.

PAINTER.—Mr. T. L. AUSTIN, of Middleboro, an excellent house, sign and decorative painter and paper hanger, has located here and offers his services to the public. See ad.

SELLS BROS.' big circus is coming to Danville next month, but will not visit us. Stanford hasn't had one for about three years, and everybody is getting hungry to see the elephant, the band wagon and the clown.

MR. A. B. BASTIN writes that our paper for Highland are nearly always delayed and that last Friday's had not arrived there on the 23d. We have reported the case to the authorities and hope hereafter to get better service. We pay enough to the post-office department to be properly served.

FICTION.—A dispatch was sent from Kingsville, this county, to the Louisville Times, stating that Jim Carter had shot and killed George Pike for persisting in visiting his sister after told not to do so. Prof. J. B. Wall, of that place, is here this week and says no such parties live there and he has heard of no such trouble.

The monument firm of Brown & Robertson, Louisville, have just put up handsome monuments for Mrs. J. T. Craig, I. M. Bruce, Mrs. Wesley Runt and Phil Solen, which are a credit to their workmanship. While here Mr. H. D. Robertson cut numerous inscriptions and took orders for a number of large stones.

FIRE.—James Frank McAnally, who lives just over the line in Casey, had just completed a new residence and had put the carpets down, Tuesday last, with the expectation of moving in Wednesday. Tuesday night, however, some fiend set fire to it and burned it down. The loss falls heavily on Mr. McAnally, who is in limited circumstances.

The L. & N. has refused to grant any concessions to its switchmen or trainmen in the matter of adopting the standard scale of wages or any other consideration asked for. The road has recently made a liberal advance and employees generally are satisfied that it is paying now all that it can do. The L. & N. officials always do the best part possible by their men.

THE colored woman, Julia Cobb, who was charged with forging an order for $1.35 on Prof. Hubbard at McKinney Bros.' store, was arrested by Marshal Newland in the Peyton's Well neighborhood and brought to town. She was taken to the store, but Mr. W. B. McKinney, who gave her the goods, failed to identify her as the guilty party and she was released.

BERRY TURNER, who killed Isaac Lewis, in Bell county, in the most treacherous manner, and then threw his body over a cliff to be devoured by buzzards and hogs, was tried at Pineville this week and given 21 years in the penitentiary. A broken neck would seem to be light punishment for such a crime, but they do not hang people up in the mountains unless mobs get hold of them.

JEFF HENDERSON, the Knox county murderer, who spent a couple of years of his life in jail here, awaiting trial, and appeals, is again in durance vile. He is charged with stealing $3,000 from old man Joe Tiraer, who had been hoarding it up for a pretty young girl who had promised to become his wife when he could give her that amount. The money was stolen the night before the nuptials and the girl refused to marry the old man, who has since dragged along a miserable existence in single cussedness. If Jeff is guilty he ought to be hung without trial or the benefit of clergy for the trouble he caused.

A very charming party indeed was that given by Miss Nora Moreland Tuesday night, in honor of her guest, Miss Laura McAnally. Miss Moreland issued verbal invitations only, to about a dozen or more couples, and from 8 till 12 a happier party could not have been found. Besides delightful tete-a-tetes, dancing was enjoyed. Early in the evening the guests were invited to lunch, which Mrs. Moreland's artistic hands, assisted by her daughter, prepared, and to say it was a most excellent culinary effort would be but feeble terms in which to speak of it. Miss McAnally assisted to some extent Miss Moreland in entertaining and it goes without saying that it was splendidly done.

SOME of our young men are growing tired of the monotony of life without a brass band on hand to enliven things occasionally and they are talking of getting up one right away.

THE Lebanon Fair train has not paid for the oil from Lancaster here so far. The exhibition, which is said to be a good one, closes to-day, so be at the depot at 7:45 A. M. if you wish to see the last of the fairs in this vicinity.

BELOW are the official returns of the primary held Saturday to nominate a candidate for circuit judge and Commonwealth's attorney. They are practically the same as given in last issue:

Counties.	Sauvey.	Brackbridge.	Noel.
Lincoln.....	974	47	79
Boyle.....	548	59	43
Garrard.....	110	7	24
Mercer.....	59	14	49
Totals.....	1,701	127	295

Sauvey's voteover both 815.
John S. Owsley, Jr., for commonwealth's attorney received 1,125 votes in Lincoln, 150 in Mercer, 100 in Boyle and Garrard about 150.

UNDER the law it is made the duty of the county judge and clerk to examine the officers appointed to hold the November election to ascertain if they are qualified for the work. Judge Varnon has accordingly fixed August 27th for the officers of the four voting places in the Stanford district to meet him and County Clerk Cooper here for examination, the three sets of election officers in the Hustonville district will meet them at Hustonville on the 29th, the three sets of Crab Orchard district at Crab Orchard on the 30th and the three sets of the Waynesburg at Waynesburg on the 31st. As one of the requirements is that a man shall be able to read and understand the new constitution, it is more than probable that not a competent man will be found in the county. A Philadelphia lawyer, with all his boasted astuteness, could not understand that fearfully and wonderfully made instrument.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. Ben Helm will hold service at Rowland, Sabbath, 3 P. M., standard time.

—Rev. A. V. Sizemore will preach at Logan's Creek church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

—Rev. H. C. Morrison, of Atlanta, will preach the dedicatory sermon of the new Methodist church at Danville, Sunday, which occasion will be a memorable one in the religious history of Danville.

—E. B. Caldwell, Jr., clerk, asks us to state that the Cumberland River Association will meet at Pleasant Point church 15 miles from Kingsville, next Tuesday, and continue three days. The first day will be devoted to Sunday-schools.

—A dispatch from Lancaster says Eld. Jesse Walden has just closed a notable religious meeting of two weeks at Little Hickman. Twelve persons united with the church, among whom was Mrs. Walter, aged 95 years, and Mr. Murphy, who is 84 years old. Murphy enlisted in Col. Bramlett's regiment in the civil war at the age of 65 and was noted for his daring and fearlessness.

—Rev. Ben Helm has returned from Old Orchard, Mo., where he greatly enjoyed the camp meeting there. The diet of spiritual food and the baked beans of the East seemed to have agreed with him and he is in better health and stouter than when he left a month or more ago. At the three camp meetings that he attended, Ashbury Park, Old Orchard and Benah Park, over $75,000,000 were raised for foreign missions.
